PREFACE

The present Manual of the New York Library Club represents much thought and many efforts on the part of the last two administrations. The preceding Manual had been issued as a supplement to the Bulletin in March, 1913. Union with the Long Island Library Club in 1914 necessitated a new record, and the present issue must be credited to the first President of the enlarged club, Mr. Frederick W. Jenkins, his successor, Dr. Frank P. Hill, Miss Frick, the Secretary, and the committees that worked with them. For their interest and devotion to the cause the thanks of the Club are due.

H. M. Lydenberg. President.

CONSTITUTION

I. NAME

This organization shall be called the New York Library Club.

II. OBJECT

Its object shall be to advance the library interests of Greater New York and vicinity.

III. MEMBERS AND DUES

Any person or institution interested in library work may become a member of the Club upon recommendation of the Executive Committee, election by the Club, and payment of the annual dues.

Any member failing to pay dues for two consecutive years shall be dropped from the membership list.

The annual dues shall be one dollar, and the fiscal year of the Club shall begin January 1st.

Any member of the Club may secure life membership by the payment of $25. Any person who shall have been a member in good standing for twenty-five years shall become an honorary life member.

IV. OFFICERS

The officers of the Club shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, who shall be elected by ballot annually at the regular meeting in May, and shall serve for one year from that time or until their successors are chosen.

The officers, with the President of the preceding term, shall constitute the Executive Committee. The President shall be Chairman, and three members shall constitute a quorum.

The Executive Committee shall have the management of the general affairs of the Club, and shall present to the Council for approval, at the beginning of each year, an annual Budget. The Executive Committee shall be empowered to spend money for the expenses of the Club in accordance with the Budget.

A member of the Council or of any committee, except ex-officio members, who shall be absent from three consecutive meetings regularly called of said Council or committee shall be deemed to have resigned and the place shall be filled according to rule.

V. COUNCIL

There shall be an Advisory Council of twenty-one, of which sixteen shall be elected members, four to be elected each year, to serve four years. The members of the Executive Committee shall be ex-officio members of the Council, of which the President shall be Chairman.

The Council shall discuss the plans and interests of the Club and recommend action to the Executive Committee, or to the Club.

The Council shall each year at the March meeting nominate one person for each office and at least eight persons for the four vacancies in the Council.

Any nomination for office or for Council filed with the Secretary forty-eight hours before the election and signed by five members shall be added to the ballot.

In case of vacancy in any office, by resignation or otherwise, the Council shall have power to appoint one of the members of the Club for the unexpired term.

Seven members shall constitute a quorum in the Council.

The Council shall be called together within two months of the election.

VI. MEETINGS

There shall be regular meetings of the Club on the second Thursday of each October, November, January, March and May, at such time and place as the Executive Committee may appoint. But the Executive Committee shall have power to change the date of any meeting.

The President shall call a special meeting of the Club on the written request of five members; but notice shall be sent to each member not less than a week before such meeting.

VII. AMENDMENTS

All amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws shall be referred at a regular meeting of the Club to the Council, which shall report thereon, and the same shall become law, if adopted, by a three-fourths vote at a regular meeting of the Club, provided that notice of the proposed change be given to the members at least one week before the meeting.

BY-LAWS

1. The Secretary shall receive a salary of $30 a year.

2. The President shall appoint a Program Committee, of which the President shall be Chairman. This Committee shall report for discussion at the first meeting of the Council its plans for the year.

3. The President shall appoint a Hospitality Committee, whose duty it shall be to promote acquaintanceship among the members of the Club, and all those attending the meetings of the Club.

4. The President shall appoint a Press Committtee, whose duty it shall be to have published in the daily papers notices of the Club meetings and notes of general library news, and in all possible ways to give publicity to library interests.

HISTORICAL SKETCH*

1901 TO 1915

BY CHARLES ALEXANDER NELSON, A.M.

The seventy-sixth meeting of the New York Library Club, the first in the twentieth century, was held at the Young Men's Christian Association, 23d Street and Fourth Avenue, at 3 P.M., January 10, 1901. Mr. George W. Cole acted as Secretary pro tem. The subject of having an annual dinner was referred to the Executive Committee. In the absence of Miss Lucy D. Waterman, her paper, "On the Need of a Library Reading-room South of the Post-Office," was read by Mr. C. Alexander Nelson. Miss M. E. Burt read a paper, "On the Books of 1900 for the Young," and Miss Helen E. Haines followed with an account of the "Books of Fiction Published in 1900." C. Alexander Nelson announced the death of Mr. J. N. Wing, whereupon the following minute was adopted: "The New York Library Club has learned with deep regret of the recent decease of Mr. Josiah Norris Wing, a fellow-member almost from its organization, and one always active and zealous in promoting its best interests. The Club desires to put on record its sense of its great loss, as well as an expression of its high regard and esteem for Mr. Wing as a man of unblemished character, a faithful citizen, an untiring worker in the Library cause, and a true and genial friend."

* A continuation of the historical sketch in the Club "Manual" of 1902.

The Club met on March 14th at 4.15 P.M., in the Foreign Missions Assembly Room in the Presbyterian Building, 150 Fifth Avenue. About 80 persons were present. C. Alexander Nelson reported progress on the Club Handbook, and at his request, the Committee was authorized to expend $300 in its publication. A paper on "The Public and Library Methods" was read by Miss Frances B. Hawley, presenting the public's case against the Librarian in regard to regulations and practices that are often grievances to the borrower. Professor Harry Thurston Peck, of Columbia University, editor of The Bookman, followed with an address on "The Books of the Last Few Years." He noted the extraordinary sales of popular books, read to-day and forgotten to-morrow. The people want advice in reading. We have no critics worthy of the name. The influence and power of the librarian, he said, increase every year, and ought to make for better reading. Professor Franklin H. Giddings gave a brief but very instructive talk on "What Books Should be Classed as Sociology in a Public Library?" The order suggested was: General works, Population, Social Mind, Social Organization, and Social Welfare, with ample cross references and guides.

In the evening the seventh dinner of the Club was held at the rooms of the Aldine Association, 111 Fifth Avenue. President Eames presided and the after-dinner speakers were Henry J. Carr, Hon. D. S. Boody, Rev. Thomas H. Slicer, Bolton Hall, Prof. W. P. Trent, Nathan Haskell Dole, and John H. Crosby.

The sixteenth annual meeting was held at the University Settlement, 189 Eldridge Street, May 9, 1901, at 3.30 P.M. Dr. J. S. Billings gave an extremely interesting account of "The Public Card Catalogue of the New York Public Library." Rev. Dr. MacMahon followed with a paper on "Reading Circles as a Help to the Library," and he also read the remarks made by Archbishop Corrigan regarding the possible consolidation of the Cathedral Library with the New York Public Library.

The autumnal meeting was held on October 10th in the Aguilar Library, 197 East Broadway, at 3.15 P.M. Fully 150 were present. President H. M. Leipziger in his inaugural remarks emphasized the need of fraternal and social intercourse among members. Miss Helen E. Haines gave a summary of the A. L. A. meeting at Waukesha, and Dr. Canfield gave an account of the meeting of the State Library Association at Lake Placid. Messrs. Bostwick, Gaillard and Nelson were appointed a committee to arrange plans for Library Institutes in the vicinity of New York during the coming year.

The 80th meeting was held November 14, 1901, in the hall of the Y. M. C. A. building, Fourth Avenue and 23d Street, at 3 P.M. About 200 were present. A letter from Mrs. H. L. Elmendorf, explaining the plans of the Institute Committee of the State Library Association, was read and referred to the Institute Committee. This Committee reported that Institutes would be arranged for in Westchester County. Mr. W. R. Eastman presented an illustrated lecture on "Some Typical Library Building Plans." Mr. Arthur E. Bostwick explained the progress made in plans for the Carnegie library buildings for New York City.

On January 2, 1902, the Club met at the assembly hall of the Board of Education, at 3.15 P.M. Two hundred were present. Dr. Leipziger spoke briefly on "Possibilities of Library Expansion in Connection with the Board of Education." Provision is made for libraries in the public schools. Four evening reading rooms had to be closed for lack of appropriation for support. Miss Rathbone opened the discussion on "Classification of Fiction by Subject and Value," followed by Mrs. Fairchild, Mr. John Thomson of Philadelphia, Mr. Gaillard, Miss Kelso, Mr. Bostwick and F. P. Hill. A committee was appointed to co-operate with the Keystone State Library Association in further consideration of this important question.

By invitation of the Grolier Club a special meeting was held at their Club House on February 13th at 3 P.M. An address of welcome was made by Mr. Howard Mansfield, the President of the Grolier Club, to which Dr. Leipziger briefly responded. Mr. H. W. Kent gave an address on "Mosaic Bookbindings," illustrated by crayon sketches. Mr. George H. Baker followed with a paper on "The Librarian's Duty as a Bookbuyer." Miss E. L. Foote, having resigned as Secretary, Mr. Silas H. Berry was appointed to that office. Members tarried to examine the exhibit of fine bindings and to inspect the fine library of the Grolier Club.

On March 13, 1902, the Club met at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, 23d Street and Fourth Avenue, at 3 P.M. An interesting address was delivered by Mr. Melvil Dewey on "Library Progress and Prospects." In the evening the Club held its ninth dinner at the Aldine Association. There was an attendance of nearly 300. The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie. An hour's reception preceded the dinner, the menu for which was filled with apt quotations never before so applied. Dr. Leipziger acted as toastmaster; he said that Mr. Carnegie had turned iron into gold and then converted that metal into a great spiritual force. That if ever there was to be a saint's day in the Library calendar it would be "Saint Andrew's Day." Melvil Dewey was the first speaker making a stirring plea for libraries for country hamlets and country folk. He closed with the wish that he had three hours in which to present some of his ideas about libraries. Mr. Carnegie followed in a very happy vein. He said Mr. Dewey did not need three hours, "he strikes the nail on the head in a few minutes. I have made to-day a sort of Library Day. The idea of coming here to be with librarians to-night seemed so delightful that I thought I would make a full day of it, so I have passed upon forty applications for libraries. And I am happy to say that all of the applications considered to-day were approved. I assure you that it was a very great privilege to be able to give the money that was required. * * * Is it really true that we are known by the company we keep? Then you librarians belong to the highest society that this world can produce. * * * You must experience great delight to know that you are continually in the presence of the master spirits of the world which time has left to refine and bless us all. I once asked Lord Acton how many books it would be necessary to put into a library representing the world's best literature. Four thousand volumes was the number he named." Mr. C. C. Burlingham spoke of the school library system of the city. John Kendrick Bangs made a delightful speech, full of happy allusions and amusing anecdotes. Dr. John S. Billings spoke as representative of the American Library Association, and Miss Mary E. Hazeltine for the State Association. The evening was a most enjoyable one.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Club was held on May 8th, at 3 P.M., in the Library of the American Museum of Natural History. On motion of C. Alexander Nelson, Frederick Saunders, A.M., now in his ninety-fifth year, was elected the first American Honorary Member of the Club. Mr. Andrew Carnegie was also elected an Honorary Member. Dr. Leipziger, retiring President, congratulated the Club on its growth and success. Mr. Hovey, of the Museum, spoke on "The Relation of the Library to the Museum." Mr. Cole submitted a "Report on the Handbook" for the Publishing Committee, and the Club voted thanks and congratulations to the Committee for the excellent work accomplished. Mr. Anthony Woodward, Librarian of the Museum, spoke on "The Literature of Natural History." The Museum Library, started in 1869 with the gift of one book, now has above 54,000 volumes.

The 85th meeting of the Club was held at 3 P.M. on October 9, 1902, in the Library of the Y. M. C. A., 317 West 56th Street. Miss Helen Haines told of the Post conference trip to Bar Harbor of the A. L. A., following the Conference at Magnolia in June. Miss Baldwin gave a breezy account of the social side of "Library Work" at Lake Placid, and Mr. R. G. Welsh reviewed the business transacted and subjects discussed at the sessions. Dr. Andrew F. Currier gave an address on "The Sterilization of Books by Vapor of Formalin," followed by a discussion.

On November 19th, at 3.30 P.M., the annual educational meeting of the Club was held in the assembly hall of the Board of Education. Dr. E. D. Shimer gave an address on "Public School Libraries," showing what New York has done for them. Dr. E. W. Stitt spoke on "A Boy's Education as Influenced by Libraries." Miss Julia Richman read a paper on "Two Universal Phases of Library Reading by Public School Girls." Miss Adelaide E. Brown explained the New York Public Library's plan of traveling libraries for the schools.

A meeting of the Club was held in Earl Hall, Columbia University, January 15, 1903. Mr. Nelson announced the death of the only American Honorary Member of the Club, Mr. Frederick Saunders, ex-librarian of the Astor Library, at the age of ninety-six years. Dr. Thomas Denison Wood, of the Department of Physical Education, spoke on "The Hygiene of Reading." For greatest ease of reading a printed line should not be over three inches long, and the preferable light is an indirect white light. Readers should seek a north window, if possible, hold book at right angles to the axis of the eye, and hold the head erect. Dr. Joseph H. McMahon spoke on "Dangers of Over Reading." The purpose of reading is, or should be, to stimulate thought. Much reading cannot be of use unless it produces thought. Miss Josephine Rathbone reported on Library Institutes held by the Long Island Library Club and Mr. Bostwick on some held by this Club.

A meeting of the Club was held March 12, 1903, at 3 P.M., in the new Carnegie building of the Yorkville Branch of the Public Library. A discussion on the use of the accession book was opened by Mr. Frank Weitenkampf. Miss Hitchler, Dr. Billings, F. P. Hill and Mr. Bardwell spoke advocating its use. Mr. Bliss, of the City College, exhibited a card to take its place. Three papers were read on the question "What Do Teachers Read?" by Miss Mary D. Pretlow, Miss Alice Wilde and Miss Florence Overton.

In the evening of March 26th, the Club held its ninth dinner at the Aldine Association; an entirely enjoyable affair with an attendance of nearly one hundred. The after-dinner speakers were John Kendrick Bangs, Walter H. Page, Rev. Thomas A. Slicer, Mornay Williams, Dr. James A. Canfield and A. E. Bostwick.

May 14th, the Club held its annual meeting in the lecture hall of the Botanical Museum, Bronx Park, at 2.30 P.M. Dr. N. L. Britton extended a hearty welcome. The Institute Committee announced a May Institute to be held at Irvington-on-the-Hudson.* Silas H. Berry gave an illustrated address on "Some Flower Structures and Their Meaning."

The 90th meeting of the Club was held October 8th, at 3.30 P.M., in the hall of the Board of Education. Dr. Charles P. Gilbert spoke on "The Public Library and the Public School," and C. G. Leland explained "The New York Public School Library System" for installing libraries in the public schools. Amendments to the Constitution were adopted adding all the officers to the Executive Committee and making the President its chairman.

The Club met November 12th, at 3 P.M., by invitation, in the Insurance Library of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, 120 Broadway. The two hundred present were welcomed by Mr. William Alexander, Secretary of the Society. A description of the Insurance Library, bought en bloc in 1886 from the estate of Cornelius Walford of London, was given by the Librarian, Miss Mary E. Miller. R. R. Bowker followed with interesting reminiscences of Mr. Walford. Dr. James H. Canfield read a paper on "Specialization of Libraries," leading to a discussion of the topic by Dr. Richardson, Mr. Elmendorf, Mr. Bowker and others. The club pin was adopted. A collation was informally served.

At 3 P.M., January 14, 1904, the Club met at the Chatham Square Branch of the New York Public Library. Dr. David Blaustein, in an address on "Aggressive Educational Work of Lower East Side Libraries," made a strong plea for American books in the Jewish language of the lower east side, and for Jewish history and literature in the English language. Mrs. V. G. Simkhovitch followed with a "destructive criticism," as she called it, on "Uses and Limitations of Libraries and Neighborhood Work." An urgent appeal was made for the sale of more copies of the handbook. Four hundred circular letters were sent in December to library workers not members of the Club.

The tenth dinner of the Club was given at the Aldine Association, February 16th. "The evening of February 16th," writes Mr. R. G. Welsh, chairman of the Dinner Committee, "was bitterly cold. It was Mardi Gras, which is a night of many social functions—it was one of the evenings when Parsifal was rendered at the Opera House —three serious facts which may account for the presence at the annual dinner of the Library Club of only seventy-nine members and friends. We had with us six invited guests, Dr. Herbert Putnam, President of the A. L. A., Miss Ruth Putnam, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman and her husband, Miss Marguerite Merington, and Mr. Burgess Johnson. * * * Dr. Putnam, Mrs. Gilman, Miss Merington and Mr. Johnson spoke each in a happy vein, and one of our own number, Mr. Nelson of Columbia, gave us some reminiscences of his early years as a librarian."

A meeting of the Club was held at the Young Women's Christian Association, 7 East 15th Street, on March 10th, at 3 P.M. Mrs. Watson, of the Library Committee, extended welcome. Monsignor George Hobart Doane spoke on "Library Influences"; Charles Sprague Smith on "Working with the People," explaining the foundation and working of the People's Institute, and Dr. Charlton T. Lewis gave an inspiring address on "The Library as a Civilizing Force."

The annual meeting was held in the Auditorium of New York University on May 12, 1904, at 3 P.M. Chancellor MacCracken extended a cordial welcome and spoke on the architectural and educational features of the University Library. Mr. William T. Partridge read a paper on "Architectural Competitions for Library Buildings." Mr. Walter Cook read a paper on "Architectural Problems Encountered in Building the New York Carnegie Branch Library Buildings."

The 95th meeting of the Club was held in Milbank Chapel, Teachers College, on November 10, 1904, at 3 P.M. Dr. James E. Russell cordially welcomed the Club and contrasted the German and American methods in secondary education. Dr. John T. Buchanan gave a brilliant talk on "Three Bs—the Boy, the Book and the Ball," and predicted the best type of manhood as a result of the judicious combination of the three. Mrs. Mathilde C. Ford read a paper on "The Relation Between the Public School and the Public Library," criticising the maintenance of school libraries by the Board of Education. A resolution was adopted declaring that the work of Library Institutes could be carried on more effectively by the State Education Department.

On December 8th, at 3 P.M., the Club met at the Tompkins Square Branch of the New York Public Library. Dr. Billings welcomed the Club and offered the use of the Carnegie Library buildings whenever they might be needed. Dr. George B. Hitchcock spoke on "The Colleges and Universities of Greater New York," of which there are eleven in flourishing condition. Dr. Luther H. Gulick gave an address on "The Place of the College and University in Education," advancing some revolutionary ideas in higher education. An animated discussion followed. A committee on celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the Club was appointed.

At a meeting of the Club held at 3 P.M., January 12, 1905, at Cooper Union, the general topic was "Professional and Technical Education in Greater New York." Professor Clarence D. Ashley gave an address on "Preliminary Education for the Professions." Mr. William McAndrew, principal of the Girl's Technical High School, spoke on "Technical Education in Greater New York."

"Auxiliary Popular Education in Greater New York" was the general topic of the meeting of the Club held at 3 P.M. on March 9, 1905, at the Educational Alliance, East Broadway and Jefferson Street. Mrs. Edward R. Hewitt gave a brief account of the founding of Cooper Union, its object and growth. Dr. David Blaustein explained the work of the Educational Alliance in Americanizing the foreigners, all Jews, of that section of the city. A paper on "Correspondence Courses," by W. B. Briggs, was read by Miss Katherine B. Johnston.

The eleventh dinner of the Club, in celebration of its twentieth anniversary and of the fiftieth anniversary of its President's entrance upon library work, was given on the evening of April 27, 1905, at the Park Avenue Hotel, "and proved pleasant and successful in every way. There was an attendance of about 150, including many guests from out of town. The President, Mr. C. Alexander Nelson, presided and introduced the various speakers, all of whom, in the course of their remarks, referred to the length and usefulness of his activities in the library profession. The after-dinner exercises were opened by Melvil Dewey, who was introduced as the founder of the Club, and who spoke of the great changes effected in library affairs during the past twenty years, and the bright outlook for the future. Edmund Clarence Stedman read a poem. * * * Ion Perdicaris gave an interesting account of his captivity in Morocco a year ago, and of the measures taken by the American government for his release, and spoke of his pleasure in being present at this half-century anniversary of one of his Harvard classmates." A poem sent by H. L. Koopman, Librarian of Brown University, was read by Miss E. L. Foote. The other speakers were Dr. W. H. Maxwell, Professor William H. Carpenter, Rev. Dr. Merle St. Croix Wright, and Dr. E. C. Richardson, President of the A. L. A. "At the close of the speech-making the Executive Committee of the Club, on behalf of the club members, presented to the President a loving cup, in commemoration of his fiftieth anniversary in library work and in token of their affection and regard. The presentation address was made for the Committee by Mr. Arthur E. Bostwick" in humorous verses.

The 99th meeting of the Club was held on May 11, 1905, at the Ethical Culture School, Central Park West, at 3 P.M. The "Committee on a Union List of Periodicals" submitted a report in which the size of the list was estimated at 300 pages. It was voted that the Secretary be paid a salary of $30 a year and necessary expenses. The topic of the day being "The Library," as one of the educational facilities of Greater New York, President Nelson opened the discussion with a few remarks showing the extraordinary growth of library work during the last fifty years. Miss Mary W. Plummer read a characteristically exhaustive paper on "The Library Facilities of New York," showing the extent to which libraries of all classes contribute toward education. The chief defect would seem to be the lack of evening hours at the great reference libraries, and the lack of Sunday hours at all libraries except the Y. M. C. A. and Cooper Union. Dr. E. C. Richardson read a paper on "The Library in the Community" from the librarian's standpoint. Dr. John De W. Warner treated the same topic from the standpoint of the layman, making a strong plea for the people who have a limited amount of time.

The 100th meeting of the Club was held on the evening of October 12, 1905, in the refectory of the General Theological Seminary, Chelsea Square. Nearly 150 persons were present. Mr. Ingalls Kimball presented a paper telling how a book gets to be—how a manuscript becomes a physical book. Mr. Henry Lewis Johnson, editor of Printing Art, read a paper on the "Influences Affecting Modern Printing." He also told of the printing school established in Boston, and the movement in Massachusetts for technical instruction provided by the State.

A meeting of the Club was held at 3 P.M., November 9th, in the Gymnasium of the General Theological Seminary. A letter from the Secretary of the Long Island Library Club telling of its action looking toward the consolidation of the two clubs was read; a Committee for Conference was appointed and the Long Island Club was invited to meet with us in January. Mr. George H. Whittle, of the Century Company, read a paper on "What Is Meant by Good Illustration." Mr. Paltsits told of "bogus illustration"; Mr. Bostwick spoke of the false nature and science pictures and of the many stories and verses written to fit pictures, and Mr. Weitenkampf gave an account of the print collection of the New York Public Library.

On the evening of January 12, 1906, the New York and Long Island Library Clubs held a joint meeting in the refectory of the General Theological Seminary. Mr. Kent welcomed the visiting club, spoke of the generosity of the Seminary in supplying a place of meeting and of the difficulty met by the officers in finding a suitable permanent place and of his own vain efforts to secure an interview with Mr. Carnegie with the solving of the problem in view. A paper on "Practical Bibliography," by Mrs. A. H. Leypoldt, was read by Miss Haines. Dr. E. C. Richardson spoke on the subject from the scholarly point of view, Mr. George H. Baker referred to the value of bibliography to the library, Mr. W. A. White of its interest to the collector. Brief remarks were made by Mr. Dewey, Mr. Growoll, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Cutter, Mr. Wyer and Mr. Huntington.

On the afternoon of March 8th, the meeting of the Club was held in the Milbank Chapel of Teachers College. The topic of the day was "Bookbinding," upon which Mr. John Cotton Dana gave a valuable address, dwelling chiefly on rebinding for libraries, and called attention to an exhibit in the Educational Museum, which was the result of fifteen years' study and experience of the subject. Miss Collar gave a talk on the historical side of bookbinding, and Miss Rathbone explained the Newark method of preparing books for the binder, with a saving of three-quarters of the time usually spent.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held March 22d, the Program Committee was instructed to secure some entertainment for the May meeting at an expense not exceeding $50.

The twelfth dinner of the New York Library Club, in celebration of the attainment of its majority, was held on the evening of April 17, 1906, in the rooms of the Aldine Association, about 100 members and guests being present. The speakers were Mr. Wallace Irwin, Mr. Norman Hapgood, Miss Louise Connolly, Miss Ruth Putnam and Miss Mary Shedlock, the latter supplementing her speech by telling Hans Andersen's story of "The True Princess."

On the evening of May 10th the Club held its 21st annual meeting in the Auditorium of the Charity Organization Society. The various committees reported and the President spoke of the excellent work done by them all. The new Constitution submitted by the Executive Committee was adopted. The Committee on Union List of Periodicals reported that less than one-third of cost of publication had been subscribed. The Committee was continued. A resolution of sympathy with our fellow-workers, sufferers in the San Francisco disaster, was adopted. The entertainment of the evening was furnished by Miss Agnes Repplier, who read a delightful paper on the "Mission of Humor."

The 105th meeting of the Club was held at the Tompkins

Square Branch, New York Public Library, on the evening of October 11th. Mr. Herman Rosenthal read a paper on "Glimpses of Russian Authors," and spoke of the books used by Russian readers in the Astor Library. Miss Ida Simpson told of the Russian readers at the East Broadway Branch, some coming from the Bronx and Queens to get books in their native language.

A second joint meeting of the New York and Long Island Library Clubs, held on the evening of January 10, 1907, at the Y. M. C. A., 213 West 23d Street, drew an attendance of nearly two hundred. Mr. Edwin H. Anderson presented a paper on "Children and the Public Library," based on his successful experience in this work at the Carnegie Library in Pittsburgh. A social hour followed.

A meeting of the Club was held at the Hamilton Grange Branch, New York Public Library, at 3 P.M., March 14, 1907. Professor William H. Burr, of Columbia University, spoke on "Engineering Literature as Affected by the Libraries in New York." Great lack of good bibliographies; what is needed is such work as has been done for medicine. Fifty dollars were appropriated for the Dinner Committee.

On the evening of April 11th, the Club held its thirteenth dinner at the Aldine Association, Vice-President Paltsits acting as toastmaster. The speakers were Edwin H. Anderson, Director of the State Library, Mrs. Salome Cutler Fairchild, who gave some experiences from the other side of the charging desk before her library work began and during the past year as a user of New York libraries. Mr. Charles W. Burrows, of Cleveland, spoke on the postal situation. Dr. Billings finished in lighter vein, narrating some of the humors and blunders collected at the Astor Library.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Club was held on the evening of May 9th, at the American Museum of Natural History. The annual election of officers took place. The address was delivered by Professor E. L. Stevenson, of Rutgers College, on "The World As It Appeared to the Great Map Makers," illustrated by stereopticon views of early maps.

On the afternoon of October 10th the Club met in the assembly room of the Hudson Park Branch, New York Public Library, about 300 in attendance, Brooklyn and Queens being well represented. Librarian Sam Walter Foss, of Somerville, Massachusetts, gave an address on "The Cardinal Principles of a Librarian's Work in a Circulating Library." A "Round Table" followed on "Relations Between Librarian and Staff," opened by Miss Frances Rathbone. Mrs. A. B. Maltby and Mrs. Fairchild took part in the discussion. By request Mr. Foss recited his "Song of the Library Staff" and "The House by the Side of the Road."

The 110th meeting of the Club was held on the evening of January 9, 1908, in the auditorium of Y. W. C. A., 7 East 15th Street. The Treasurer reported that all the funds of the Club were in a bank that had suspended payment, and made a special appeal for dues, to which a good response was made. The address was by President G. Stanley Hall, of Clark University, on "The Psychology of Childhood as Related to Reading and the Public Library." A resolution of thanks, "including a request for a copy of the address for publication" was adopted. A round table discussion on "Children and the Library" was conducted by Miss Annie Carroll Moore, Dr. Hall replying to many questions propounded from the audience. Refreshments were served.

The March meeting of the Club was held on the 19th, at 3 P.M., in the 58th Street Branch, New York Public Library. A report by the Dinner Committee led to a lively discussion and a vote that the dinner be held after Easter, price of tickets to be $2, any deficit to be met by the Club. Discussion of the topic "How Can the Public Library Cooperate with Organized Efforts to Better Social Conditions?" was opened by Mr. Robert Bruere, of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, who presented some novel ideas as to how a library might go out in search of new business. Mr. Robert H. Whitten followed with a paper on "Special Libraries." The "Round Table" on the "Service of a Public Library to the Various Departments of the City Government" was led by Mr. Walter B. Briggs. Mr. Bruere was asked: "Can the district visitors to the poor form a connecting link with the public library" He answered in the affirmative.

On the evening of April 30th, in the midst of a terrific thunder storm, thirty-three members and guests of the Club sat down to the fourteenth dinner of the Club at the Park Avenue Hotel, fifty per cent. more women than men at table. It proved one of the most sociable and enjoyable of the Club dinners, a veritable family gathering. Dr. George Cary Eggleston spoke on the novel and the work and value of the sentimentalist. Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer gave charming reminiscences of browsing in an old-fashioned library and made a plea for more open shelves in libraries. Rev. Thomas R. Slicer with his usual humor hit off the stack system of storing books, so-many-and-a-half stories above and below the level of delivery, and no book more than 42 feet in a straight line from the finger-tips of the attendant. Mrs. Martha Foote Crowe pleaded for more poetry in libraries. Charles Battell Loomis read some of his inimitable fables in his inimitable manner, and Mr. Bostwick presented some letters of regret purporting to come from celebrities, closing with a humorous ballad of "The Girl at the Charging Desk," signed R. K.

The twenty-third annual meeting of the Club was held May 14th, at 3.30 P.M., in the Chapel of Teachers College. After reception of reports, Mr. Sutton, of Manchester, England, was cordially welcomed. Mr. R. R. Bowker spoke on his recent visit to European libraries, and brought greetings to the Club from Dr. Andersson, of Stockholm, and from Miss Palmgren, of pleasant memory. Mr. Arthur E. Bostwick, President of the A. L. A., delivered an address on the work of five Western States for library advancement. Membership now about 315.

A meeting of the Club was held in the rooms of the Authors' Club, November 12th, at 3 P.M. After announcing the program for the year as covering the relations of libraries with the professions or trades most nearly connected with their work, authors, publishers, binders and artists, President Bostwick presented Mr. Francis W. Halsey, who discussed the question "How Does the Circulation of Books from Public Libraries Affect Their Sale to Individuals?" Mr. Montrose J. Moses followed on "How Much Do Authors Use Libraries in the Writing of Books?" He designated the library as a possible democratic literary academy of the future. Dr. Billings remarked that the author should give the library time to find and arrange the material desired for some special purpose. Like editors, librarians, he said, are supposed to know everything, and they come about as near to it as the editors. Mr. Duffield Osborne emphasized the appeal for access to the shelves and spoke on "Does An Author Write Consciously for Public Library Readers?" He thought not. Mr. Bostwick spoke of the "infra-library" literature very popular with non-library users. Miss Lord called attention to the decided advance in the quality of fiction found on public news stands, attributing the change to the influence of the public library. Mr. Moses noted similar change in the quality of melodrama. Mr. Bowker gave an account of the origin of the Authors' Club and how it came to have rooms in Carnegie Hall, and Dr. Rossiter Johnson called attention to its collection of literary biography in which were some very rare books.

The 114th meeting of the Club was held jointly with the Long Island Library Club on January 14, 1909, at the rooms of the Aldine Association. Mr. George Haven Putnam gave an address on the subject of copyright. Mr. Samuel W. Marvin spoke on the manufacture of books for library use. Mr. Frank N. Doubleday followed with a few remarks on prices and discounts.

About 400 members and their friends assembled at the Hotel Marlborough on the evening of January 28th, on the occasion of the fifteenth dinner of the Club. A larger number than the New York Library Club had ever gathered together for any occasion. President Bostwick explained that the program of the evening was in line with the year's programs for the regular meetings of the Club. An appropriate gift was handed to each speaker and a bit of presentation poetry attached was read. Mr. Charles Battell Loomis described how the "no ordinary man" wrote, illustrated and sold his own manuscript. He received a can of midnight oil tied with the Club's colors, and responded that an author is always glad to see a full dinner pail. Dr. I. N. Funk, expressing appreciation of a new printing press, made a plea for simplified spelling from the publisher's point of view. Mr. Troy Kinney, illustrator, received a foot of red, white and blue lead pencil, and trusted he might do as well as Mr. Loomis, whose story described the production of a dozen pictures in an hour. Mrs. K. E. Barry, of Olivers' bindery, smiled thanks for a bookish-looking piece of binding, and spoke of the artistic and practical in bindery work. Mr. Walter Cook received a trowel with which to lay the corner-stones of library buildings. Mr. Hamilton Holt, of the Independent, acknowledged receipt of a pair of shears, and spoke of the efforts of his magazine to be of use to librarians in the selection of books. Miss Sarah Askew, of the New York State Library Commission, recited some Uncle Remus stories.

On March 11, 1909, a meeting of the Club was held at the Y. M. C. A., 213 West 23d Street, at 3.15 P.M. Amendments to the Constitution recommended by the Council were presented and adopted, providing for life membership, and a smaller number for a quorum of the Council. The topic for the day was "The Relations Between Librarians and Book-binders." Miss Rose Murray contrasted the method of the binder of the past with that of the binder for the public library of to-day. Mr. Robert Rutter, Mr. F. J. Pfister and Mr. Cedric Chivers presented the subject from the point of view of the binder, the latter emphasizing the problems arising from the endless variety of paper used in making books.

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Club was held May 13, 1909, in the 96th Street Branch, New York Public Library, at 3.15 P.M. An amendment to the Constitution, striking out the clause in Art. VI limiting the expenses for any meeting, was adopted. A resolution on the death of Dr. James Hulme Canfield, Librarian of Columbia University, was read, accepted and ordered spread on the minutes. "Art in Its Relation to Libraries" was the topic for discussion. Mr. C. H. Israels, of the Municipal Art Society, spoke on "What the Public Library Can Do for Art" in stimulating public interest in all efforts for city betterment. Mr. W. S. Kellogg illustrated his remarks on "Art Features of a Library Building" by photographs of the Carnegie branch buildings, pointing out their artistic features. Mr. Ralph P. Willis spoke on "Mural Proofs for Interior Decoration," showing many illustrations of the stencil process.

A joint meeting of the New York and Long Island Library Clubs was held at the Y. M. C. A. building, 215 West 23d Street, on December 19th, at 3.15 P.M. The resignation of Mr. George Watson Cole as President was announced and the Council reported the appointment of Miss Elizabeth G. Baldwin to fill the unexpired term, and of Miss Harriet B. Prescott as Vice-President in Miss Baldwin's place. A resolution expressing deep regret at the death of Mr. Adolph Growoll, late editor of The Publisher's Weekly, was presented and adopted. The Club then listened to an address on "Henrik Ibsen," delivered by Professor Nathaniel Schmidt of Cornell University. "All who were present felt the inspiration of the speaker's earnestness, sincerity and elevation of thought."

The 118th meeting of the New York Library Club was held at the Harlem Branch, New York Public Library, on March 16, 1910, at 3 P.M. Miss Julia E. Elliott read a paper on "Indexing and Some Other Unorganized Lines of Library Work." A paper by George Watson Cole on "Book Collectors as Public Library Benefactors" was read by Miss Ruth S. Granniss. Mr. Cole treated the subject very broadly and exhaustively. A third paper on "The History of Book-selling, Old and New" was read by Mr. F. W. Jenkins, treating mainly of ancient and medieval times and touching but lightly on modern conditions.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Club was held May 13, 1910, at the Museum of Natural History, at 3 P.M. The program contained four papers of retrospect and four of forecast for the coming quarter century. Miss J. A. Rathbone in "Changes in Statistics" showed that the number of libraries of over 1,000 volumes had increased 89 per cent. since 1885, that the number of volumes in the libraries of the country had increased 215 per cent. and that the circulation of the libraries had increased 275 per cent. In "Changes in Methods" Miss Theresa Hitchler pointed out that there had been a very great advance toward simplicity and freedom. Miss Harriet B. Prescott in "Changes in Scope" showed that library work had expanded to include work with children, state commission work and traveling and home library work, that library schools and training classes had been established, and that there had been great increase in the privileges extended to borrowers of books. Mr. R. R. Bowker, noting the "Changes in Ideals," held that the ideal was that the libraries of the country should be so unified that every reader, anywhere, can feel that every book of every library is available for his service. The forecasts comprised talks by Mr. W. Dawson Johnston on "Libraries and Schools," hoping for more instruction in the use of reference books and library methods in secondary schools; by Miss Mary W. Plummer on "Library Training"; by Mr. Frank P. Hill on "Special Libraries and Consulting Staffs"; and by Mr. Edward F. Stevens on "Possible New Fields or Extensions of Library Work." Miss Plummer suggested that special training for the librarian in law, medicine, education, technology and other special subjects could be had by establishing library schools in connection with universities, so that library students in any line of work could receive the special training necessary. There should be trained workers with adequate salaries in every department of library service.

About 200 members got together on the 120th meeting of the Club, held in the Chapel of Teachers College at 8 P.M., November 10, 1910. As a change from the ordinary program a "Convention of Books" was organized. Mr. F. A. Hicks spoke of his enjoyment of Anthony Trollope's "Autobiography"; Miss Julia F. Carter gave a materialistic view of "Alice"; Miss H. R. Keller read a paper on Jane Addams' "Spirit of Youth and the City Streets"; Miss Anna C. Tyler eulogized Arnold Bennett's "Buried Alive"; Henry W. Kent idealized on "Bayle's Dictionary," and an appreciation of Rostand's "Chanticler," from the pen of Helen E. Haines, was read by Miss Mabel Haines. The convention was a success.

A joint meeting of the New York and Long Island Library Clubs was held in the 23d Street Y. M. C. A.

assembly room on the evening of January 17, 1911. The topic was the "Mutual Relations of Our Foreign Population and the Library." Mr. Charles R. Towson described the extensive work of the Y. M. C. A. in teaching English to foreigners. Mrs. V. Simkhovitch and others favored the translation of English classics into the language of the foreigners and a more liberal use of the assembly halls in library buildings. An animated discussion followed in which many took part. The Italians were declared difficult to reach because not a reading public. Mr. Stevens spoke of a movement of educated Italians in Brooklyn for work among their own people. Miss Rose referred to work among the Chinese begun at the Chatham Square Branch, New York Public Library. Mr. George Iles gave high praise to C. A. Perry's "Wider Use of the School Plant."

The meeting of the Club on March 23d was devoted to a personally conducted inspection of the new building of the New York Public Library. After remarks of welcome by Dr. Billings, President E. H. Anderson conducted the party of 225 through the building for about two hours.

The annual meeting of the Club was held at the American Museum of Natural History on May 11, 1911, at 3 P.M. One of the largest and most appreciative audiences in the history of the Club listened to an inspiring address on "Books and Happiness," by Professor William Lyon Phelps, of Yale. A resolution on the death of Mr. George Hall Baker, for ten years Librarian of Columbia University, presented by Miss E. G. Baldwin, was adopted. Election of members and of officers followed.

On the evening of September 21, 1911, the Library Club tendered a reception to the New York Library Association, as an expression of welcome to the delegates to the twenty-first meeting of the State Association. The reception was held in the ball-room of the Park Avenue Hotel. After a brief address of welcome by President Virgin of the Club, and responses by President Hill and Vice-President Seward for the Association, formalities were waived and guests were free to enjoy the evening socially. Refreshments were served.

The November meeting of the Club was held on the 9th at the Metropolitan Museum of Art at 3 P.M. Mr. William R. Clifford, Librarian of the Museum, outlined the growth of its library, now about 23,000 volumes. Mr. F. G. Dellenbaugh, Librarian of the American Geographical Society, read a paper on its library and Mrs. A. L. Roesler described how the work at the Library of the American Museum of Natural History was conducted. By request, Miss Mary W. Plummer told how the organization of the new Library School of the New York Public Library had been effected. The President announced that the Program Committee planned to have general discussion of topics of interest at future meetings, to establish closer personal and professional relations among the members.

The 125th meeting of the Club was held on the evening of January 11, 1912, in the Auditorium of the New York Historical Society. Librarian Robert H. Kelby extended a hearty welcome and read a paper on the history and scope of the Society from its foundation in 1804. Mrs. Emil L. Boas, President of the City History Club, gave a most enthusiastic account of the work of that Club with its student members, of whom there are fifty groups working under thirty leaders. While the Club has no library of its own, it creates a good demand for books at the public libraries. In the absence of Mr. F. B. Bigelow, Librarian of the New York Society Library, his paper descriptive of that Library and its work was read by Miss Rathbone. Miss Florence E. Young gave an account of the library and work of the Genealogical and Biographical Society, comparatively little known because its use is limited to members and their friends.

On March 13, 1912, the third meeting on the special libraries of Manhattan was held at 3 P.M. at the Union Theological Seminary. Professor W. W. Rockwell, Librarian, spoke on the theological libraries of the city, with special reference to that of the Seminary. He specially mentioned the classification for theology upon which Miss Julia Pettee, head cataloguer, had been working for three years past, utilizing the preliminary studies made by Dr. Gillett during the preceding ten years. Dr. C. R. Gillett spoke on the McAlpin collection of books on British theology. Professor Alexander Marx gave an account of the Library of the Jewish Theological Seminary, which ranks as one of the first of its class in the world, only the Bodleian and British Museum exceeding it in number of volumes. Mr. F. C. Hicks read a paper on the libraries of the newspaper offices in New York City. Inspection of the buildings followed the meeting.

On the afternoon of May 2, 1912, the members of the Club were delightfully entertained from five to six o'clock by the Authors' Club, at the home of the latter, in the Carnegie Building. The books, prints, manuscripts and other treasures were examined and appreciated, and the hospitality extended by Mr. Bowker, Mr. Iles and other members of the Authors' Club, fully enjoyed. It was a memorable occasion.

On the evening of May 9th a meeting was held in the refectory of the General Theological Seminary. Mr. Andrew Keogh, of Yale University, gave an interesting account of the special collections in the Yale Library, dwelling mainly upon the unique collection of the Elizabethan Club at that University, an endowed club without dues or fees. A catalogue of members, books, pictures, etc., is now being printed by the Clarendon Press with the seventeenth century type of Bishop Fell.

A meeting of the Club was held in the Chapel of Teachers' College on the evening of October 11th. President Hicks outlined the work proposed for the year, calling attention to the new feature of assigning special subjects to new committees, which are to work up these subjects and report at the last meeting of the year. There are six of these new committees, viz., on historical manuscripts, institutional libraries, prints, school libraries, special collections and union lists. A list of all committees appears in the new club publication—the Bulletin. Dr. Lee Galloway, representing the Efficiency Society, gave an address on the "Modern Efficiency Movement." Mr. W. P. Cutter read a paper on "Efficiency in Libraries." The President read an account of some experiments in efficiency tried by Miss Hume in the branches of the Queens Borough Public Library. A discussion followed in which Dr. W. D. Johnston, Miss Hitchler and Dr. W. W. Rockwell took part.

The November meeting was held on the 14th at 3 P.M. in the Broadway Tabernacle Church jointly with the New York Peace Society. The topic of the day was "Relation of Libraries to the Peace Movement." President Nicholas Murray Butler spoke on "The Contemporary Peace Movement," its three centers of information and activity and their publications, of which all librarians should have knowledge. He also spoke of the periodical and pamphlet literature on the subject. Professor Samuel T. Dutton, of the Peace Society, spoke on "The Library and the Peace Problem." Mr. Paul Brockett, of the Smithsonian Institution, presented a paper on "International Exchange and Loan [illegible] Books." Miss H. B. Prescott read a paper on "International Bureaus of Information" by Professor Adolf C. von Noé, of the University of Chicago, treating of the great bibliographical projects now being developed.

The 130th meeting, a joint gathering of the New York and Long Island Library Clubs, was held at the Ethical Culture Building on January 9, 1913, at 3 P.M. The general topic was "The Relation of Libraries to Contemporary Movements in Education." The first speaker, Professor Ernst M. Henderson, of Adelphi College, spoke on "Problems and Movements in Modern Education," dwelling on vocational education, or the adaptation of education to the individual. Miss Kate Turner, of Erasmus Hall High School, read a paper on "Vocational Guidance in the High School." Miss Elizabeth Farrell gave an inspiring address on "The Problem of Backward and Defective Children in the Elementary School." Dr. Bardwell, District Superintendent of Schools, spoke of the influence the libraries should exert in seeing that practical knowledge of these and other problems percolates into the home.

The Club met March 13th at 8.30 P.M. in the Lecture Room of the Y. M. C. A. on 23d Street. Memorial tribute to Dr. John Shaw Billings was rendered by President

Hicks, by the adoption of a resolution presented by Dr. William Dawson Johnston, and by a brief address by Dr. Talcott Williams, in which he stated that the election of Dr. Billings to membership in the National Academy of Sciences was "an action that definitely established notable library work as ranking with more purely scientific achievements."

The topic of the evening was the "Relation of Libraries to the Publicity Movement." Dr. Talcott Williams spoke on "Libraries and the Public Press," showing the importance to the present-day investigator of up-to-date information found only in newspapers, each of which each day has from 600 to 1,000 separate articles all unindexed. He illustrated the value of the decimal classification in filing newspaper clippings. Mr. Leo Arnstein spoke of "The Municipal Research Library and Publicity in Public Affairs," dwelling on the importance of keeping the public informed on public affairs. Mr. J. C. Dana's paper on "The Public Library and Publicity in Public Affairs" was read by Mr. Hicks.

The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Club was held May 8, 1913, in the Hall of the Y. W. C. A., 7 East 15th Street. The annual election was held and full reports of work done by the various committees were read. These reports "showed much research and investigation into local conditions and some were of such a nature as to promise to be of more than local use and interest." They are all printed in full in the Bulletin for June.

The October meeting of the Club was held on the 9th in the Lecture Hall of the Botanical Museum, at 3 P.M. The President, Miss Mary W. Plummer, announced the general topic for the year to be the "City," and the special subject for the meeting "Education Outside of Books." Dr. N. L. Britton, Director of the New York Botanical Garden, gave an illustrated address on "Educational Activities of the Botanical Garden." Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of the Zoological Park, gave an account of "The Zoological Society and Its Park," which, begun in 1899, has grown to be the finest in the world. At the close of his talk he gave a "stereopticon trip" around the park, showing many interesting slides.

On December 19, 1913, at 3 P.M., a joint meeting of the Long Island and New York Library Clubs and the New Jersey Library Association was held in the Auditorium of the Horace Mann School. Miss Plummer presided and introduced the English poet, Mr. Alfred Noyes, who spoke on "The Sea in Tennyson's Poems," following his address with readings from his own poems.

The 135th meeting of the Club was held January 22, 1914, in the Auditorium of the National Headquarters of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Plummer presiding. Mr. John Collier, of the People's Institute, gave an address on "The Moving Picture Show," showing how the production of films had been monopolized commercially, and the difficulty of getting films of educational value. Mr. William McAndrew gave his experience of the uncertainty of moving pictures, and the difficulty of procuring suitable films for his school. Miss Hassler told briefly how the Queensborough Public Library had used moving pictures to create public interest.

The annual meeting was held on the afternoon of May 14th, at the Washington Irving High School. The topic for the day was "Immigration: a. How It Affects New York City; b. How New York City Affects the Immigrant." The speakers were Mr. Henry C. Wright, from the Department of Charities; Deputy Commissioner Burdette G. Lewis, of the Department of Public Correction; Congressman William S. Bennet, and Mr. Joseph Mayper. The result was a thorough discussion of the immigrant from many points of view, Mr. Bennet presenting a very optimistic view of his value economically, morally and politically.

A special meeting of the New York Library Club was held at the New York Public Library, 42d Street, June 29, 1914, at 4 PM. The resolutions passed by the Council June 19, recommending consolidation with the Long Island Library Club, were read and the following resolutions were adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the New York Library Club invites the Long Island Library Club to consolidate with the New York Library Club.

Resolved, That if the Long Island Library Club accepts the invitation of the New York Library Club to consolidate, the members of the Long Island Library Club thereby become members of the New York Library Club and the dues of all members of the Long Island Library Club be considered paid until January 1, 1915.

The Long Island Library Club, at a special meeting held September 14, 1914, accepted the invitation and voted to consolidate with the New York Library Club, and at a meeting of the Council of the latter club, held September 21, the Secretary was instructed to incorporate the names in the list of members of the Long Island Library Club in the list of members of the New York Library Club.

The 138th meeting of the Club was held in the Auditorium of the Y. W. C. A., 7 East 15th Street, October 8, 1914, at 8.15 P.M. The President congratulated the Club on the consolidation and welcomed the new members. Mr. Donald Hendry, who was in charge of the American Library Association Exhibit at Leipsic, read a paper entitled "An On-looker at Leipsic." A communication from the officers of the Club elected at the annual meeting in May was read tendering their resignation, "to enable the Club as at present constituted to elect a ticket of its own." New officers were elected. Mr. Frederick W. Jenkins, the new president, made a brief address on taking the chair.

On November 12, 1914, the Club met in the Assembly Room of the Merchants' Association in the Woolworth Building, at 2.45 P.M., 310 members and guests in attendance. Dr. Frederick A. Cleveland of the Bureau of Municipal Research, gave an interesting account of the origin, development and work of that Bureau. The Bureau gets at the facts and lays them before the official involved that he may make the necessary changes. After much opposition in the beginning the Bureau in nearly every instance is now working in harmony with the official on the problems of his office.

The 140th meeting of the Club was held January 14, 1915, in the Hall of the Long Island Historical Society, Brooklyn, at 3 P.M. Milo H. Gates, D.D., delivered an address on "The Problem for the Church and the Library."

The March meeting was held on the 11th in the Auditorium of the National Board of Y. W. C. A., 600 Lexington Avenue, at 8 P.M. The general topic was "The Child in New York City." Mr. Owen R. Lovejoy spoke on "The Child at Work." Mr. William L. Ettinger on

"The Child at School," with special reference to pre-vocational training. Miss Anna B. Gallup told of "The Child in the Museum" and Mr. Lee F. Hamner spoke of what is done for "The Child at Play." Miss Annie Carroll Moore spoke briefly on "Children in the Library," closing an evening's discussion of unusual interest and value.

By invitation of Senator William Andrews Clark, the members of the Club, on March 13, 1915, from 3 to 6 P.M., were given an opportunity to visit his art galleries at his palatial residence on Fifth Avenue. Nearly 300 members availed themselves of the privilege, and enjoyed the rare treat of studying the famous pictures in his collection, as well as the curios in his museum. The Senator was present in person and took evident pleasure in describing some of his most highly valued art treasures.

The Club met for its 142d meeting, the thirtieth annual, at the Washington Irving High School, at 3.30 P.M., May 13, 1915. After a short organ recital by Professor Neidlinger, organist of the school, Mr. Eugene Nowland, Stage Director of the Educational Department of the Edison Studio, gave an address on the "Possibilities of the Moving Picture as an Aid in Education." He showed films illustrating the manufacture of coins at the Philadelphia mint, and pictures of pond life magnified some millions of times. These were followed by "The Boston Tea Party." The annual election of officers then took place.

In finishing this historical sketch of the second fifteen year period of the New York Library Club, in the thirty-first year of its activities and the sixty-first since his own entrance upon library work, the writer wishes to record his profound thankfulness that it has been his great privilege to live as a contemporary of the growth and development of the Library Movement in our country. Born in the year in which Mr. Astor drafted the will by which he founded the Astor Library, begininng library work the same year that Mr. Jewett became Librarian of the Boston Public Library, studying and working at Harvard College four years under the tutelage of Sibley and Ezra Abbot, then just appointed Librarian and Assistant Librarian, respectively, it has been his great good fortune in succeeding years to know well many, and to work with several of the master leaders who have raised librarianship to its recognized high position among the learned professions. Winsor, Cutter, Saunders, Poole, Van Name, Spofford, Fiske, Noyes, Larned, Crunden, Baker, Edmands, Thomson, Canfield, Billings, Miss James, Miss Plummer are names of well-known masters of our craft who have passed beyond our ken.
